CLASS

On September 5, 1951, two classes of eager, but apprehensive six-year-olds started first grade at Mechanic Street and South Main Street Schools. After saying good-bye to our mothers, we began our classes. Our first grade teachers Miss Cruise and Mrs. Osborn taught us music and spelling; but what we remember the most were the coloring, basketball playing, and mischief making.

Second grade was fairly uneventful, but we noticed that school was becoming more difficult as we went along. In third grade our teachers, Miss Crowley and Miss Makepeace, taught us long addition and phonics. It was this year that we took part in a May Day celebration on Community Field.

The people who had Mrs. Sherman for fourth grade won't readily forget multiplication and geography. In the meantime, the other class enjoyed finger painting and square dancing in addition to their regular subjects. This was the year that John Brown started his airplane in class. Fifth grade, both classes were transferred to Mechanic Street School. Mrs. Koran's class produced puppet shows this year. I'm sure those who had Miss Holda can remember the spelling words. From one of our sixth grade teachers, Mr. Nell, we learned all about electricity and canals. This was the year that we became acquainted with the "clock-watchers' club," and the "literary club." Our other teacher, Mrs. Norcross, taught us art, English, and math. The social life in sixth grade consisted mostly of "swinging" Boy Scout dances.

FIRST ROW, L. to R.: R. Hancock, R. Evasius, E. Pascale, R. Underwood, L. Moore, J. Arooth, J. Pelletier, P. Chlebus, K. Stacy. SECOND ROW: B. Gilbert, T. Moore, J. Kirk, J. Lynch, D. Asquith, E. Noble, K. Pascale, F. Sullivan. THIRD ROW: N. Reddin, E. Moriarty, T. Pascale, J. Brown, C. Coolong, D. Webber, F. Isham, C. Moriarty, J. Dickinson.

The next year, we changed to South Main Street School. Our teachers for seventh and eighth grades were Mr. Graham, Miss Dalton, Mrs. Barber, and Miss Jones. Tass spent a sizeable portion of his time in the halls. We remember the science fair, the drama club's plays, and the treks to the high school for a cafeteria lunch. Jack Lynch won the Science Countdown and Bev Sangermano and Laurie Moore received the American Legion Awards.

In 1959 we made the big change from grammar school to high school. We'll never forget the initiation and the bewildering first look at the schedule. Bruce Miller was elected our president--a procedure to be repeated for the next three years.

Our sophomore year, along with its October Hop, passed quickly. Our junior year was very eventful--marked especially by the Junior Prom, over which Sheila Smart reigned, and the Canadian trip.

Now, we are seniors; and there's never a dull moment with the Washington Trip foremost in our minds. At present we are looking forward to graduation, and for many of us, college and our future careers. We are also looking back over the past twelve years and the wonderful times we've had--times we'll never forget.
